IN THE DOVE OF PEACE

MAINTAINING AND REPAIRING PIPES.

Marshall's Pipe Compensator, Inc., 1000 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

The first necessity in rearing strong active chickens is that we shall have healthy vigorous old birds as parents. Mating a male with more than eight or ten females should be avoided. Ample range for scratching and exercise must be provided for the adult fowl, that the blood may be kept in good circulation, and the organs of the body well developed.

The eggs should be laid in spring, the usual nesting time of wild birds. Mature fowls as a rule, better at incubating eggs than young birds. Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, and Wyandottes usually make excellent mothers and broods. Nervous, quarrelsome, or cold-blooded hens should not be chosen for the hatching of chickens.

The clucking hen must not be set in the house occupied by laying hens, as the noise will drive them away. Mating a male with more than eight or ten females should be avoided. Ample range for scratching and exercise must be provided for the adult fowl, that the blood may be kept in good circulation, and the organs of the body well developed.

One day the hens must be turned out to feed, and the door of the house shut. The hens must be turned out to feed, and the door of the house shut. The hens must be turned out to feed, and the door of the house shut.

The eggs are turned in about seven to eight days, and all embryos are removed. The eggs must not be disturbed in the final stages of hatching. The chicks must not be fed for twenty-four hours after hatching. It is still better not to feed for six hours, or even for twelve hours. The hen who "tears" herself, or "attracts her nest," as the country folks say, cannot feed them until they are smart enough to follow her round; and every person has noticed how lively healthy little chickens are reared. Nature has provided a little storehouse of food not yet assimilated in the body of the young chick, and he does not when he gets nothing but grit till that time. Many troubles arise from a mistaken notion of kindness to the interesting little youngsters.

The first feed is rolled oats and cracked wheat, or, according to other practices, stale bread crumbs, soaked in milk, and then squeezed out. Milk crumbly. It is said that the first feed should be rolled oats and cracked wheat. Of this they receive four or five feeds a day for the first week. The rolled oats are gradually discontinued, and cracked grains substituted for that diet. At ten days of age, the weeks old chicks will readily eat whole wheat, which should form the most substantial part of their diet hereafter; though the greater variety of food furnished, the less likely one is to have trouble.

Clean water should be freely provided in drinking. In winter, water cannot be polluted, and which must be kept scrupulously clean. A little sweet milk given occasionally will often help to give extra strength to weak chicks, while sour milk is a preventive and a cure for some of the minor bowel troubles to which chicks are liable.

As chicks increase in size, they may be fed extensively with hoppers, if they have ample range, and with plenty of succulent green growing food. Hot manure should not be used, except for fattening purposes.

There are many varieties of coops suitable for the breeding of chickens. The A-shaped coop, being most prevalent, though quite barred, is placed on one side, several inches from the ground, with one end open, may be used. Dry broods and poults are usually larger the purpose in a place.

Chickens have many enemies; and every care must be taken to guard them against them. Foxes, hares, and other mammals, and even cats are absolutely barred from entrance.

It should be remembered that from healthy parentage chickens come into the world best qualified to live. They are killed either by their own enemies or by improper feeding and housing. If we do them proper food, suitable shelter, good ventilation, and ample range, we will have no difficulty in raising to maturity the great majority of healthy chicks.

NOTES.

The Panama Pacific International Exposition is going to have an egg laying contest, to begin November 1, 1915, and end October 31, 1916. The contest will be in charge of the poultry division of the University of California. Entries close October 15.

It is the first regulation in the history of a profit to be obtained over the cost of raising, caring and the feeding of the same. There are some who do not know the meaning of the word utility, but we see it as a cloak to dispose of eggs that do not even possess the merits of the average of the market by the fancier, and who

The General

Three and other crimes the world knew nothing of, but he knew, and though he strove to forget, he could not. In the dead of night, he lay in the gray dawn when he had been humiliated upon the floor in his sleep, a day of wild pleasure or a night of despair and anguish, sleep would come, but long had dreams with it.

He dreamed he was in a prison cell, lying in the bed with the bars that had left, with the barred chain falling at his feet. Then visions of the past came to him, and he saw the face of the man who had been humiliated upon the floor in his sleep, a day of wild pleasure or a night of despair and anguish, sleep would come, but long had dreams with it.

"I'm not a person," I said. "I'm a machine." I was shocked by my own audacity. I was making a statement that I was not making with any other person. I was making a statement that I was not making with any other person. I was making a statement that I was not making with any other person.

PRISONERS OF INDIA.

Report Explains Their Methods—A Roman Secret Society.

American is commonly supposed to be the practical source of the idea, in Italy, some persons a whole family to make one of them killing. The reports of the Roman Government, however, show that the idea is not new, and that it is not the work of a single person.

The persons involved in 1909 in a similar case, were generally by a Roman and Italian, who have been sent to the prison, where they are presently disposed. The "Chicago woman" is found in Italy, and is now in the hands of the Italian Government, and is in a similar case. The Italian Government would almost seem to be the source of the idea. Will the American people be captured by the Italian police?

It was found that young widows were abundant in Rome, and that most of them were young and beautiful. It is difficult to say just how many were afflicted by the death of the invalid. A goodly number of young widows were married, but not at the same rate as in the past. The number of young widows was a slowly declining one—this being especially evident in the fact that just the few that remained the church.

In Sicily and Calabria two provinces, very fertile, a large number of the young widows were married. In Calabria, the number of young widows throughout the state of Rome, while not at the highest rate compared with the other provinces mentioned, was not very low.

BORING HOLES IN GLASS.

The facts of the case are that somebody either leaned against the window or kicked it during the previous night. The broken glass is in the lower right hand corner. As is well known, when a crack starts in a window it always keeps right on cracking. The window is now becoming a hole and as it is in the place where I sit, I don't and can't use the window. I don't and can't use the seat and I don't like the job with the great deal of ease from the Portland Press.

Had a Bad Attack of Diarrhoea and Vomiting

Had the Doctor Eleven Times
BUT DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD
STRAWBERRY FINALLY CURED

Mrs. Wesley Pinnale, Rotin (Ont., writes): "It is with great pleasure that I can recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract to my friends. My little boy, who was three years old, had the worst attack of diarrhoea and vomiting I ever saw. He was very restless, and he came eleven times from Tuesday morning until Saturday night, but still he was not ill. He was very nervous, and to the last of his suffering, as the doctor said, he could do nothing more. He was about three years old, and on Saturday night, and was obliged to try your great and wonderful medicine. He got better almost at once, and the next day the dose was given, and was kept up, as directed, and when the doctor came on Sunday he was well. I am very glad to change, why! your little boy is going to get better. Then I told him what Dr. Fowler's Extract was, and said, 'Keep right on, he is doing well.' I often think as I look at my boy, growing to be a man, that I am very glad to be Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Sarsaparilla."

"Dr. Fowler's" has been on the market for close on to seventy years, and has been known from one end of Canada to the other as a certain cure for all bowel complaints.

When you ask for "Dr. Fowler's" be sure you get it, as any substitute is liable to be dangerous to your health.

Northern Exhibition

As Viewed by a Local High School Student

The following is a section from an oral composition given in the local High School this week. Although the writer has doubtless heard from several of the unbounded success of this year's exhibition he apparently does not agree with them and herein states his personal impressions.

"Doubtless all of us have at some time or other harboured a strong feeling of resentment to some interfering person who meddles in perhaps a private argument between yourself and friends. This same resentment, unabated and probably increased we once held against the visitor from distant places who complained to us of the unexpressedness of our Northern Exhibition. Now however to even the most home proud of us, has the time come when we must confess, unwilling by no doubt that our exhibition is not that which it once was or even that which it now might be. We may take it for granted that practically the first object which you noticed on entering the grounds on Wednesday afternoon last was that structure which even yet some people in talking sarcasm call the "crystal palace." The time once was when this was building any town could be very proud of and which only a building of its size and capacity could accommodate the immense numbers of exhibitors. For some reason perhaps on account of the increasing popularity of large fairs, our own became to grow smaller and of less interest, year by year. We do not contend that the Northern Exhibition was over in a class with the Canadian National but still many things could now be done to make it that which we might truly call an unbounded success." Thus will tell in a proverb only too well proven to us in our own exhibition building. We have none too gentle a climate and after many years this grand old building is ready to make place for the more up-to-date. Such could not be the case, however. One word was "furn" down but, we must confess, before it was absolutely necessary. Without expending capital to anyone, the work of leaving down this section was not what directors should have had. Supplies of the debris is even yet far removed. Around the sides and in the rear of our once beautiful palace lay heaps of wrecked sheds. The wrecking of these sheds came with the decay of the Palace and since so very little has been done to fix one, it is only natural that so many have been made to resemble the other. The wrecking of the sheds has in the last few years caused considerable annoyance and dissatisfaction to exhibitors in causing them to show their livestock under very unsatisfactory circumstances. Not a thing which goes to increase the numbers of exhibitors of livestock, even, and even a few years since, a very interesting feature of the Fair. Then again with the destruction of poles and cattle sheds, in the wrecking by wind and storm of the poultry barn which in the last few years has caused the directors to have the "Pine Arts Building" along with the splendid leather work and pleasing flower displays of the annual exposition. Poultry is a feature interesting to all, but when it is shown alongside of other lines, it does not make a pleasant effect. In this structure, waste and dirt have accumulated from time to time, by each year adding to the store. This year the exhibits were pleasing and interesting but dissatisfaction was shown in several things pertaining to display. The prize list, it seems, has for years past gone scarcely any change and year after year the same objects are shown and year after year these same objects in many departments receive the prizes. This is not fair to the average exhibitor nor to the exhibition as a whole. Then several exhibitors, while not intending to make any unfair remarks, did fault with the fact that many exhibitors had friends among the judges.

This year the great attraction was a balloon ascension and seeing a person in the air was a very impressive sight. This was caused by the monetary interest. This ascension took place about five o'clock in the evening. Upon going to the Fair early in the afternoon one went to see the exhibits, and upon the conclusion of this he again ventured outside to see the attractions of the day. He would stroll through that all too short midway, visit the refreshment booth, buy the customary bag of peanuts or ice cream cone and then for perhaps an hour and a half wander aimlessly or sit down and await the great balloon ascension. Now to all, younger sets especially, lingering around is not enjoyment. Being included in that lucky class called school children, many of us enjoyed the getting of the resultant half holiday more than the spending of it. The midway attractions it would appear are not in great favour with our directors. Now there are many of splendid "sideshows" which would only be too glad to come and coming also gladly pay a fee into the treasury. These fees we believe would not be entirely misplaced. We might be sure that if the money used to secure one immense attraction were perhaps used of more intelligently in securing more and smaller ones, it would tend to increase the eventual popularity in the exhibition. We are of times sermonized of the subsequent evil of the present day race track. To a broad minded observer the resultant evil is not apparent. Race track gamblers and the presence of "bookies" would certainly tend to lower interest and respect but under proper management these evils could be depressed and excellent races causing wide spread interest be procured. Even a game would have broken the intense monotony of this afternoon. Having some of our school spirit I might state that our own H. S. team could have given an interesting game for half an hour or more. You may think he is concentrating on attraction more than on the real exhibition. This is not the case. In Chester all attractions are prohibited, if I am informed correctly and much money is being made. If such is the idea of the directors surely better the exhibition itself more popular. Then another thing that together impossible is an evening performance ending in a pleasing but inexpensive display of fireworks.

There is we all know the year; it is fair night concert in the local opera house but as has been shown the people in general will not whether from loving or otherwise go into a stuffy theatre when pleasant outdoors is beckoning. Money is the great necessity it seems with our fair

If a larger interest could be raised the finances would also without a doubt soar. We can not blame our business men if they flatly refuse to give immense sums to support something they do not secure very much benefit from. More exhibitors then more visitors, having more local trade. This is the situation in brief and it all come back to the one thing. The necessity of causing a higher interest in our fair. Imagine if you can the fair as seen last Wednesday, see it once again; then in your mind's eye view the fair as it easily might be and as we hope it will be in years to come. A smaller, neater, more pleasing edifice might properly call attention to the building, kept clean and neat. Larger numbers of exhibitors with their more interesting and varied but interesting midway. Some entertainment, something to see, somewhere to go. Then the evening, stand packed with satisfied people viewing an interesting grand stand performance and the concluding fireworks, brilliant and magnificent. All exhibitors satisfied and the local merchants kings with satisfied smiles counting the amounts of their increased sales. Now is the time if ever, when far seeing directors should study the exhibition question and in some measure at least try to reverse the declining popularity in that which we all want to proudly call our Northern Exhibition.

Death of Sir James Whitney.

A bulletin announcing the death of Sir James Whitney, Premier of Ontario, was placed on the bulletin board of the N. W. office shortly after noon on Friday last. Although Sir James had been suffering from a prolonged illness, his death came very suddenly, being caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

The first definite word of the illness which led eventually to Sir James Whitney's death was received here on January 15th, from Hon. Dr. Pyne with whom Sir James had been spending some time in the Southern States. Sir James was then moved to New York, where he was confined to his bed when he was taken to the hospital at Westchester, N. Y., on February 1st. He died on February 10th, at the age of 61 years. Sir James was a member of the Privy Council and had served in the House of Commons for many years. He was a member of the Ontario Legislative Council and had served as Premier of Ontario from 1905 to 1911.

WHAT INCH OF RAIN MEANS When an inch of rain has fallen it means that the amount of water shed on the ground is equal to the amount of water shed on the surrounding territory to a depth of one inch, providing, of course, that it didn't run away or soak into the ground. It means that in one acre, water enough to fill more than 100 barrels of 5 gallon capacity has fallen. This quantity of water weighs more than 10 tons.

Sailor and Turban

Equally Fashionable

The former is a particular type of sailor which the French call the "Canotier" - the left brim broader than the right. This "Canotier" from our show rooms is one of the leading models in the attractive group of hat features. It is fashioned of good quality black velvet, with a fancy mount.

Another favorite is the choice little "Glengarry" Turban that fits close as a cap and is suitable for the coming season.

PREVENTION OF DISASTERS

Replying to a deputation from the Workers' National Committee, who raised certain questions on the relation of municipalities to the relief of distress, Mr. Lloyd George said that while he was still anxious in view of the very heavy burden that was on the future would impose upon the country, that local authorities should not spend more money than was actually necessary to prevent distress, he had never meant to suggest that municipalities should wait until people were starving. The town hall, clamouring for bread before taking action. They ought to exercise every faculty and effort to anticipate distress, and he thought that the words he used in the recent address as a representative of municipal corporations bore that interpretation.

While he deprecated municipalities competing with the Government in the financial market, he said that rather in support of the view that the Treasury was making to the municipalities, believing it would be better for the Government to raise the money.

As regarded unemployment in the building trade, Mr. Lloyd George thought it desirable to take full powers this year for the creation of all Government buildings, decided upon for the next few years, and would either build or purchase those works according to the necessities of the case. Other means would have to be found for dealing with distress in cotton industries, but he was not at all sure that they were not a little premature in anticipation of a considerable unemployment generally.

HOW HUMBLE.

We like to come in touch with the real and natural in a letter from some one at the front. We find it to be a letter from a young man who is a motor cyclist there. He tells of how he met some William Collins College boys, and then he proceeds to tell of how he met some William Collins College boys, and then he proceeds to tell of how he met some William Collins College boys.

We looked out upon the bridge major's office, and I'm daunted by the machine didn't count after fifty yards, and leave me stock. I had some talk with the major, who was a motor cyclist there. He tells of how he met some William Collins College boys, and then he proceeds to tell of how he met some William Collins College boys.

Temperance Meeting

The attendance of the people of Walkerton and neighborhood, at the first meeting of annual interest which will be held in the Town Hall, on Sunday evening, November 22nd, at 8 P.M. is expected. This date is being generally observed throughout Bruce, in connection with the work of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, the representative and aggressive temperance organization of the Province. The Field Day is an attempt to bring to the results of the conference and a more effective campaign against the liquor traffic. It is further strengthening the popular feeling to get rid of alcohol, it exists and to keep it out of the municipalities from which it has been expelled. A trial is in store for all who will be assembled in the Town Hall on Sunday evening. The Town clerk, Mr. H. H. Spence, will discuss the Temperance Situation and Outlook. He will be accompanied by Ruthven MacDonald, the well known barrister, who will add to the interest and attraction of the meeting by his splendid singing. You are very cordially invited to be present.

One of the most influential agricultural papers in the Dominion, is the "Western Farmer," which appears to the whole-wool business. Independent and fearless, it has always given the best interest of Canadian agriculture. Able from that, its accurate and carefully compiled market reports and comment give the reader a practical grasp of market conditions. "You have said, and dollars, is the repeated recommendation of all the readers. The Sun is on the ground, and it is not influenced by any packing houses or commission merchants. It stands for farmers' down, everywhere in the year. It is the farmers' friend, you ought to be a reader.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents. A delicate locket set with pearls and diamonds was the bride's gift to the bride, while the bridesmaid received a pearl and diamond brooch and the groomsmen a beautiful pearl cuff. giving at all. If I had suppose I the millionaires five hundred dollars out of the world's fund, without the consent of the majority of the stock, I would be forcing them to contribute to this fund, whether they wish to or not and I would feel that I was robbing Peter to pay Paul and would be just as guilty as I put my hand into their pockets and took their money. Our Government has asked for men who were willing to go to the front to fight in the battles of the First Empire. If there was but one man who offered their services would four Pinkerton correspondents have the council leave the young men to do their duty and as many men as we are needing to help us. We should not forget that this is also a voluntary contribution. Canada has sent thirty three thousand men across the sea to fight in the last few years of the Empire. Now has also the number of men in training ready to go when the call of duty comes and most of them men were forced to go at their own will.

Our government is forced to spend millions of dollars caused by this terrible war, which the people of Canada will have to pay whether they wish to or not for it is the business of our government. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has said to give our last dollar and our last man if we be in defence of the British Empire. And it is the business of our government to say how this money shall be raised and how it shall be given to Canada will be forced to pay his share for the protection he is receiving living under the British flag.

I think this is all I need say, hoping your correspondent will give the matter his most serious consideration that the light may shine in.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for the space in your paper.

Yours,

Ned McKinnon

DEATH OF MRS. DETRICH.

The sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Albert Detrich of Riverside, of acute nervous prostration which occurred at Paisley on the morning of Dec. 1st, where she and her husband had been visiting Mrs. Detrich's mother, Mr. P. O'Hagan, her father-in-law, and her mother, Mrs. Detrich, daughter of the late Eugene O'Hagan, had spent all her life in the period of Cleveland and Riverside and from her very childhood was a favorite of everyone. Her kind and sympathetic nature endeared her to every one. Twenty-three years ago she married Mr. Albert Detrich, who, together with a large family of eleven children, she left to mourn her. The funeral took place from the family residence to the church of St. Anne in Riverside on Thursday morning, Dec. 3rd, where religious high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Capps for the repose of the soul of the deceased. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Riverside. The pallbearers were Dennis Parker, Archie McKinnon, Charles, John Cassidy, Jr., Thomas Mullin and James Quintan. The chief mourners were her husband, Albert Detrich, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bunniger, (late Detrich's sister), Elizabeth Joe Detrich, Eugene Detrich, her son, O'Hagan and her four sons, uncle of the deceased, Dr. Thomas Nicholas and Patrick O'Hagan her sons and uncle Mr. Patrick McHagie, Joe O'Hagan, Ed and the Thomas McKee, P. O'Hagan of Paisley and Henry Kierlin, Mrs. Detrich's three nieces.

A large consignment of books have been received by the library for the public library.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Thompson and daughter of Paisley Sunday at Mr. Cecil Garland's.

We understand that Mr. Samuel Baeburn is thinking of starting a fur farm. We wish him all success in his new venture, and are prepared to order a "furry" coat or lined boots any time.

Communication

To the Editor of the Telescope.

Dear Sir:

"It is a matter of profound regret to most of the patriotic people of the township that at the morning held last evening to discuss the matter a taxation to contribute some hundreds of dollars to the patriotic fund was defeated, the vote being very un-enthusiastic. In view of this substantial equipment by the neighboring townships, it is regrettable that the township failed to do so. The above criticism appeared in the Pinkerton news in last week's issue of the Telescope. With all due respect to the opinion of your correspondent in regard to the action of this township Council in defeating the motion to grant the hundred dollars. In the patriotic fund I would like to say a few words hoping he may see the light and come to the fold. The Refutation is still going on and while the issue holds on to burn, the great amount may return.

We would not forget that the patriotic fund is made up of voluntary contributions to help relieve the suffering of our fellow men caused by this horrible war. Our government has not set any obligations upon us, but it is a privilege and a duty we owe to our fellow man to give part at least of what Providence has blessed us with when we are the greatest need. There is money pouring in from all corners of the earth, men are giving up their wealth like water, while others are not giving as much and some are not.

Mrs. Beninger and Mrs. Parker of Mountain and Mrs. Dorey of Albion, were unable to be present. Mrs. Beninger leaves behind her a family of six children, the youngest of whom is but three years of age. Just three weeks ago her eldest daughter Lily was married to Lawrence Pringle of Grand Valley. The eldest son Joseph is at present teacher of the Riverside public school. Amongst those who attended the funeral were: Beninger and Mrs. Dorey, J. Beninger, Rev. of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hagan of Windsor, and Mr. and Mrs. Beninger of Grand Valley, B. J. Beninger, J. S. Maxwell, J. Hagan, Wm. Cummings and several others from Chippewas and Mr. Paterson of Walkerton. Rev. Father Capps referred most fervently to his personal knowledge of the deceased family and friends, words of consolation, speaking of the beautiful Christian character of the deceased and the bonds of faith and love which still united the mourning household with the dear departed in heaven.

Hearty to the beautiful eulogy and alluded friend. The death of the life has begun to the celebrating of his life. Faith that final reunion, love that survives the grave. Blessed in Christ and His Mother these are the words that were said.

BOY SOCIAL AT BARRIS.

Barris school house, which has been the scene of many a successful entertainment, was packed to the rafters last Friday evening, when a boy social was given in aid of the Patriotic fund. The programme which was well received throughout, consisted of reading and recitations, and vocal and instrumental music. The manner in which the children acquitted themselves every time they appeared, especially in an Indian play, gave credit of careful and efficient training. A laughable farce, entitled "Washington at Loughborough" in which Miss Heston and Mr. Frank Wheeler depicted a battle between the American stage, brought down the house. Some clever sketching by Mr. D. Knap was much enjoyed by the audience. Miss Lina Heston, who, "There's a mother and grey who never has not received very lively applause and in response to repeated requests, Miss Heston sang, "Whispering will." "It's a long way to Tipperary" was given in masterly style by Mr. Steve Brockbank, assisted by a male chorus. "Feeling on the old camp ground" by Miss Barley and Heston and Messrs Brockbank and Heston concluded this very creditable first program.

Mrs. Heston's violin accompaniment added much to the evening's entertainment.

This Farmer Shows How Good Roads Benefit

MR. J. J. HOUSTON, who lives on a road that has lately been improved, in Lauderdale County Mississippi, makes the common-sense statement which follows:

"I have never made an investment for which I have gotten as much financial return and satisfaction out of as I have out of this road. The investment in property alone has been sufficient to four or five times pay the whole cost of construction, and I don't think the county could make any investment that would bring in as much return as to build a network of them all over it. It is such a good thing that I want every man in the county to have one just like it, and I am willing to pay my part of the taxes to help him get it."

Build Concrete Roads

Then your road taxes will be invested and not merely spent. They will return many times the amount they cost, and those returns will show in the increased value of your property, the lessened cost of marketing your produce, the longer life of your horses and vehicles, the greater conveniences and general prosperity of your community.

Concrete roads nullify all other kinds of roads and require practically no repairs for many years. They are safe, clean, permanent and passable every day of the year.

Write for free, Good Roads literature and learn how good roads will better your condition. Address:

! The Other Girl !

...a husband, but simply to acquiesce in the status, privileges and deference accorded to the man as a citizen, were married to all of their sex except the favored woman.

Can you imagine anything worse than that?

Yet this is only half the story. The other half resides in the fact that the women of this generation, who are sending their daughters to marry are singularly reluctant to see their sons wed. The mother who is employing all the arts of persuasion to get her son to marry another woman's son for her daughter's husband will weep at the announcement that the other woman's daughter was snatched for him.

DON'T BE TOO BITTER.
